

State Route 92: Carr Canyon Road to Hunter Canyon

Arizona Department of Transportation

Project Newsletter - Spring 2007

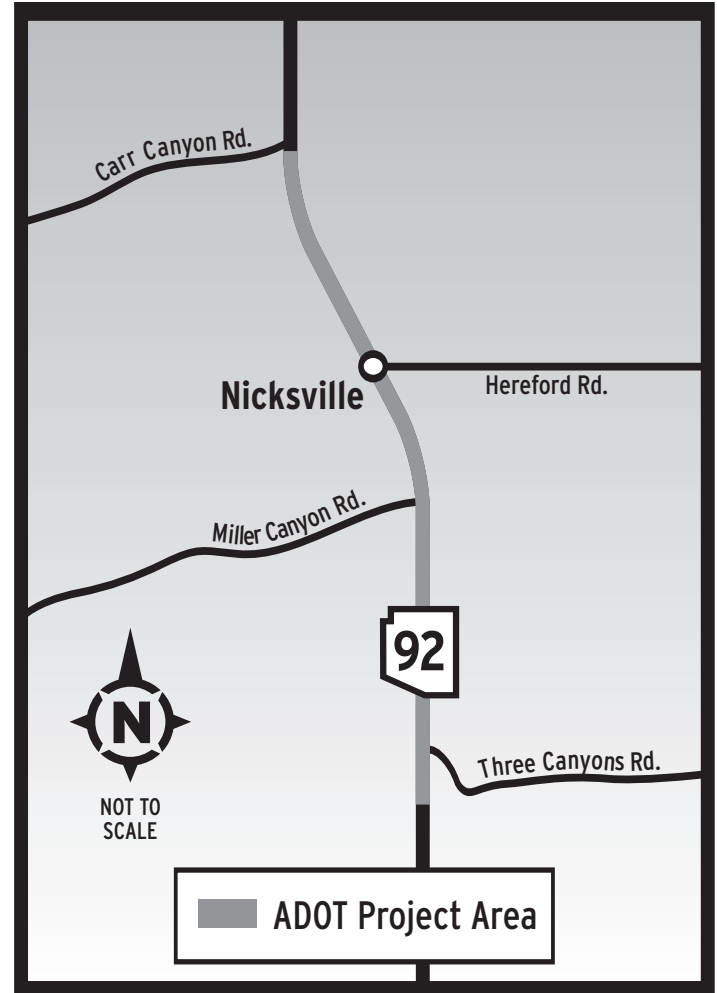

PROJECT OVERVIEW

The Arizona Department of Transportation (ADOT) is completing plans to widen approximately four miles of State Route 92 from Carr Canyon Road to Three Canyons Road. The highway will be widened from two lanes to five lanes with an urban (curbed) segment near the Hereford Road intersection and a rural (open shoulder) segment through the majority of the project limits. The project will improve traffic flow and safety.

The improvements through the Nicksville area include adding a 12-foot lane in each direction, 5-foot shoulders including curb and gutter, right- and left-turn lanes at the Hereford Road intersection, raised concrete medians, and a traffic signal.

The improvements outside of Nicksville include adding a 12-foot lane in each direction with 8-foot-wide shoulders, a center left-turn lane and right-turn lanes at several intersections.

Drainage basin locations were selected after the public meeting in 2005. The locations are just north of Calle Coyote on the east side of State Route 92, and north of Flying V Ranch Lane on the west side of State Route 92.

ADOT and Cochise County have reviewed the proposed conditions at Calle Coyote for safe access to State Route 92 and flooding. The roadway will be closed permanently because it was not feasible to provide safe access at this location. Shirley Drive will continue to provide access for local residents.

SCHEDULE INFORMATION

The utility companies will be starting relocation work in spring 2007 and the roadway construction will be advertised in fall 2007. Construction is scheduled to begin in winter 2007.
